ing before the Green Court Martial, at Alexandria, and he is charged with crucities and extortions practiced on the inmates of the prison, during the latter part of the war. The evidence so far fixes a great deal of abuse of power on the accused. He is alleged to have been so active in the arrest and imprisonment of deserters, that he did not conine himself to legitimate cases, but seized clitzens of Alexandria and stray colders without passes, forcing them by secusionary 830 for their arrest. Men maiderably higher in rank are said to implicated, and efforts will be made keep the testimony from the public. The sales of medical stores and hosal furniture still continues.
